Moreton Bay Koala Rescue Inc working with Australian Wildlife Hospital

Moreton Bay Koala Rescue Inc operates a 24 hour rescue service for sick, injured and orphaned koalas. All rescued koalas are immediately transported to the Australian Wildlife Hospital at Beerwah where they receive specialised veterinary care at any time of the day or night.

After treatment at the Australian Wildlife Hospital, and prior to release, all koalas are micro-chipped and ear-tagged. This makes them easy to identify if they are re-admitted to hospital. Rehabilitated and orphaned koalas are always released as close as possible to the point of capture.

In 2009: 290 koalas were admitted to the Australian Wildlife Hospital from the Moreton Bay Region. Another 503 koalas were sighted.
